

Medical Expense Company/Bank-Loan Program Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What if I need help paying my deductible?

We have help. A "Medical Expense Company/Bank-Loan" will allow you to spread your deductible cost over a 12 month (24 paycheck) period.

To be eligible for a "Medical Expense Company/Bank-Loan", you MUST start investing $75 per paycheck into a Health Savings Account ("HSA") at Wilton Bank by JANUARY 15th, 2021 (or 30 days after being employed).

Q: Why shouldn't I just charge my medical expenses to my credit card, it just seems easier?

Many people are tempted to use a credit card as a "loan company" because they are tricked by the low MINIMUM monthly payments. (They don't understand that it is extremely difficult to crawl out of debt with the high interest rates associated with credit cards.) Getting a lower interest loan thru Wilton Bank will save you money over using your credit card.

Q: When I get my loan, how do I get my hands on the money?

The bank will deposit your "loan amount" into your HSA. You will then write checks from your HSA to pay your medical expenses.

Q: When I pay back my loan, do I need a separate payroll deduction/direct deposit (in addition to my usual $75 direct deposit)?

If your loan requires that you pay an amount UNDER $75 per paycheck, you still must direct-deposit at least $75 per paycheck. Your paycheck stub will show $75 going to your "LOAN" (instead of your "HSA") until the loan is paid off in full.

Example: John Doe's loan only requires him to pay $45 per paycheck in loan payments. John will still direct-deposit $75 per paycheck and $45 will go toward his loan payment and the remaining $30 will be deposited in John's HSA for future savings (up to the maximum allowed amount).

If your loan requires that you pay an amount OVER $75 per paycheck, your paycheck stub will show the negotiated amount going towards your "LOAN" and not your "HSA". Once your loan is paid off in full, your paycheck will go back to showing a $75 direct-deposit going to your "HSA".

Q: How long will I have to pay off my loan?

Twelve months (24 payroll deductions).

Q: What if I separate from the Company before my loan is paid off in full?

You must make arrangements, with Wilton Bank to pay back the remainder of the loan.
